THE SCHOOL OF LAW of Southern Methodist University was established in February 1925. The School is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and is approved by the Section on Legal Education of the American Bar Association.

THE LEGAL CENTER

The School of Law is located on the northwest corner of the University campus, within the city limits of University Park, approximately five miles from the business center of Dallas. School of Law buildings (pictured elsewhere in this bulletin) include Storey Hall, Florence Hall, and Lawyers Inn. Construction of a new law library building with a capacity of 450,000 volumes began in 1968, with completion scheduled for summer 1970.

The Southwestern Legal Foundation, organized in 1947 for the purpose of supporting continuing legal education of practicing attorneys, has its offices in Storey Hall.

Lawyers Inn provides living quarters and dining facilities for seventy-five students and contains a lounge, recreation room, faculty dining room, and several guest rooms for visitors. Florence Hall, completely remodeled in 1968, contains the Law School classrooms, seminar rooms, and a courtroom. The main building, Storey Hall, houses the Law Library, administrative and faculty offices, the Southwestern Law Journal, the Journal of Air Law and Commerce, the Oil and Gas Reporter, a seminar room, a large auditorium, and a lounge. The buildings are of modified Georgian architecture, conforming to the style of all permanent buildings on the campus. The classrooms and courtroom are commodious and well appointed. The three large reading rooms in Storey Hall provide a place for study and research under excellent conditions.

The Law Library contains nearly 150,000 volumes carefully selected to provide for study and research. It is equipped with a microcard reader, a photocopy machine, and other modern facilities. Accessions are made at the rate of approximately 6,000 volumes a year, with special attention being given to materials in the fields of Oil and Gas, Taxation, Insurance, International Law, Comparative Law, and Jurisprudence. Emphasis also is placed on Latin-American legal publications. Codes, periodicals, and outstanding treatises have been acquired from most of the Latin-American countries. There also are collections of legal literature of France, Germany, Italy, and Spain. The Library contains all reported cases of the federal courts and all reported cases of the state courts as well as all English cases from the time of Henry VIII.

The Law Library contains also collections of the reported cases from the principal countries of the British Commonwealth, including Ireland, Scotland, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and Canada.

The Library has complete files of over 350 leading legal periodicals. It currently subscribes to 750 periodicals of which more than 100 are from foreign countries. The statutory collection includes the current statute law of the United States and of all of the states, and a selected list of United States Government documents, including congressional reports and hearings valuable for research in legislative intent. The rules, regulations, and decisions of the administrative agencies of the federal government are kept current. The Library has excellent collections of treatises, encyclopedias, digests, citators, and loose-leaf services which make it a valuable working laboratory for students. Several copies of all leading textbooks are available. There are many texts on the subjects of government, economics, international relations, and business in the collection.

Fondren Library, near the Legal Center, houses the general library of the University. Its facilities are available to law students.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

The primary purpose of the School of Law is the preparation of the student for the practice of law. The curriculum combines training in the science and method of the law, knowledge of the body of the law, and practical experience in the handling of professional problems. It also explores the relationship and responsibility of the lawyer to other segments of society.

Students gain practical experience through such courses as Practice Court, Moot Court, and Legal Writing, and by work in the Legal Clinic, as student editors of the Southwestern Law Journal and the Journal of Air Law and Commerce, and as student assistant editors of the Oil and Gas Reporter.

Throughout the curriculum, every effort is made to keep the classes as small as possible and thereby give students the advantage of individual attention and close personal relations with their professors.

DISCIPLINE

To safeguard its ideals of scholarship, character, and proper personal conduct, the School of Law reserves, and each student as a condition of admission concedes to the School of Law, the right to require the withdrawal of any student at any time for any reason deemed by the faculty to be sufficient.

Dismissal from the school may be honorable, as in the case of a student dropped solely for poor scholarship, or dishonorable, as in the case of expulsion for violation of the examination rules or honor code or other serious breaches of discipline. Minor infractions of the rules of the School of Law will render the student liable to suspension from classes and cancellation of examinations or to other appropriate sanctions.

Students in the School of Law shall not, without the written consent of the Dean, either individually or collectively use the name of Southern Methodist University School of Law in any activity of any kind outside the regular work of the school. Violation of this rule is sufficient cause for dismissal.

Honor System. The School of Law is conducted on an Honor System. All phases of the student's association with his fellow students and with the school are covered.

Refunds are allowed only upon honorable dismissal by the Dean of the School of Law and must be applied for at the date of withdrawal. After the third week no refunds are allowed.

As a special exception, if a student is drafted during a semester, he will be eligible for a full tuition refund unless he is eligible for academic credit. ## FINANCIAL AID

STUDENTS BEGINNING THE FIRST YEAR OF LAW STUDY

Scholarship grants are made each year to highly qualified graduates from colleges and universities in all parts of the nation. Entering students with exceptional qualifications may be granted assistance covering tuition, room, and board. Full tuition scholarships are awarded each year to graduates of accredited colleges who have made excellent scholastic records. Partial tuition awards in varying amounts also are made each year to college graduates with good scholastic records who demonstrate need.

Application for scholarship awards should be made to the Chairman of the Committee on Student Financial Assistance on a form which may be obtained from the Secretary of Admissions.

All scholarship awards are made for one year. Recipients must re-apply each year for further awards or grants.

Sumners Scholarships.* Five scholarships worth in excess of $3,000 per year for three years are awarded each year to outstanding entering students who are residents of, or who are attending colleges or universities in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas, Kansas, Nebraska, and Missouri. Prospective students interested in this program should write for information to the Chairman, Sumners Scholarship Committee, in care of the School of Law.

STUDENTS WITH ADVANCED STANDING

A substantial number of financial assistance awards are made annually to upperclassmen. Some awards equal full tuition; others cover a substantial portion of tuition. The number and amount of awards depend upon the funds available, and the amount of assistance that may be awarded to a given student depends upon his academic record in the School of Law, financial need, and participation in School activities.

Normally no more than half of an award is a grant. The remainder is a loan that carries a nominal interest rate and is repayable in installments following graduation. To insure that the School's financial aid program will continue to grow, each recipient is asked to accept a moral obligation to repay the grant portion of his award when he becomes financially able to do so.

All awards are made for one academic year. Recipients must re-apply each year for further assistance. Awards are not automatically renewed, and renewal awards may be increased or decreased upon consideration of the student's academic record, need, and activities.

SCHOLARLY PUBLICATIONS

Two student-edited law reviews are published by the School of Law. The operation and management of each is vested in its Board of Editors composed of senior students. Second-year students, originally selected on the basis of scholarship, become candidates for the boards if they have exhibited a high capacity for legal research and writing. A substantial portion of each journal is devoted to material prepared and edited by student writers and editors. In both publications, the work of the students, coupled with the guidance and assistance of the law faculty, has produced periodicals of permanent value to the legal profession. Law journal training is widely recognized as an invaluable complement to formal legal education.

The Southwestern Law Journal, a legal periodical published by the School of Law since 1947, appears five times each year. Although the title of the publication indicates its geographical location, its scope embraces significant phases of local, national, and international law. The Journal reaches judges, law schools, and attorneys throughout the United States and abroad. Each issue contains articles by prominent scholars and attorneys and analyses by student writers of recent cases, statutes, and developments in the law.

The Journal of Air Law and Commerce, a quarterly publication founded in 1930, is also published at the School of Law. The only scholarly periodical in the English language devoted primarily to the legal and economic problems of aviation and space, the Journal has a world-wide circulation, with subscribers located throughout the United States and 50 foreign countries. Each issue contains articles dealing with the many complex problems of the rapidly expanding airline industry, domestic and international. Among the contributors are distinguished lawyers, economists, government officials, and scholars in diverse fields of intellectual activity. Complemented by special sections dealing with topical issues of a diverse nature, student comments, case notes, and recent decisions, book reviews, and editorial comment, the Journal constitutes a vital forum for the discussion and analysis of contemporary issues affecting aviation and the law of outer space.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES AND ORGANIZATIONS

The Applied Legal Training Program is conducted each summer. Regular students finishing their second year of law work may enroll. The student is compensated by the employer to whom he is assigned. Assignments are made to legal offices (firms, corporations, and government) for twelve weeks.

The Order of the Coif is a national law school scholastic honor society. Not more than ten per cent of all graduates during the academic year may be elected to membership by vote of the faculty. Formerly, The Order of the Woolsack was the School of Law's honor society and had the same standards for election as The Order of the Coif.

The SMU Student Bar Association, composed of all students in the school, has as its general purpose the promotion of the interests of the student body.

The Legal Clinic and Training in Professional Responsibility. In cooperation with the Dallas Legal Aid Society and the Dallas Council of Social Agencies, the School operates a Legal Clinic under the supervision of a Director who is a member of the faculty. For this work the School maintains a suite of student offices and provides secretarial assistance. The Clinic serves the whole of Dallas County, and cases from out of the county come by referral from other legal aid clinics and societies. Selected students are appointed to assist court-appointed attorneys in defending criminal cases. Students also advise by mail prisoners in the state and federal penitentiaries. Students interview clients, prepare papers, and work as assistants to attorneys of record when cases reach the litigation stage. In some civil cases the judge allows the students to assist in presenting the case in court. This work is open to second- and third-year students.

The Barristers is a general service organization of fifteen law students elected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, achievement, and personality.

The Advocates is an organization composed of all students residing in Lawyers Inn.

The Moot Court Board, a student organization, administers a continuing program to create interest in and aid in the instruction of oral and written advocacy.

The Regional Moot Court Competition is held each November. Law schools in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, and New Mexico are eligible to compete. This competition is connected with the National Moot Court Competition sponsored by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York.

The State Junior Bar Moot Court Competition, held each June as a part of the annual convention of the State Bar of Texas, is an appellate moot court competition between the law schools of Texas.

Legal Fraternities, the Legal Sorority. Chapters of three national legal fraternities and one national sorority have been established at the School—the John Hemphill Senate of Delta Theta Phi, the Roger Brooke Taney Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta, Monteith Inn of Phi Delta Phi, and the Alpha Psi Chapter of the Kappa Beta Pi International Legal Sorority.

PRE-LEGAL STUDIES

The School of Law does not prescribe a fixed course of pre-legal study, but does examine the records of each applicant for admission to determine whether the undergraduate courses taken reflect adequate preparation for the study of law. So far as the student is free to elect courses, he should seek a well-rounded program, incorporating in it to the greatest extent practicable the following subjects: English, History, Literature, Economics, Philosophy, Political Science, and Accounting. Particular attention should be devoted to the development of facility and style in his use of the English language.

ADMISSION

Dates of Admission. Beginning students are admitted in the fall semester only.

**Application for Admission.* Application for admission should be made well in advance of the date of intended enrollment. Application must be on forms supplied by the School of Law. The application must be supported by transcripts from all colleges attended by the applicant and by college questionnaires and letters of recommendation on forms supplied by the School of Law. A person filing an application while still enrolled in his undergraduate studies should file transcripts showing the work completed to date and the courses in which he is enrolled at the date of application.

Each new full-time student of the University must present written evidence of a recent physical examination by his personal physician. Registration of the new student is not complete until the physical examination form provided by the University has been filed with the Director of the Health Center.

All full-time students must have been vaccinated against smallpox within the last five years. Students are encouraged to have up-to-date inoculations against tetanus, polio, and influenza.

Application Fee. A fee of $15 must accompany each application for admission. The application fee is not refundable, but will be credited against tuition if the applicant is admitted and registers.

* An applicant who has been accepted and has paid his $35 admission deposit, but who is drafted prior to beginning law study, will be allowed to enroll without reapplication in the fall semester following the termination of his military service, unless there has been a detrimental change in his personal record. It will be necessary for the student to submit only a new matriculation form and a statement of his activities from the time of his initial application to the time of his expected enrollment.

Law School Admission Test. Candidates for admission to the first-year class must take the Law School Admission Test administered by the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. Application blanks with complete details about the test may be obtained by writing to the School of Law.

Candidates are urged to take the test on the November or February testing dates preceding the fall semester in which they seek admission.

Admission by Selection. Admission to the School of Law is by selection based upon the academic record of the applicant and other available data. The school reserves the right to reject any applicant without statement of reason.

Credit Requirements. An applicant must have been granted a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university.

Admission Fee. Students accepted for admission are required to deposit $35 with the School of Law within four weeks of date of acceptance. This fee is credited toward tuition charged upon enrollment. It will be forfeited if the student fails to enroll.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Persons Eligible. A student who has completed successfully a part of the law course in another law school which was at the time of his study a member of the Association of American Law Schools, or approved by the Section on Legal Education of the American Bar Association, may apply for admission with advanced standing. The student must also have met the admission requirements of this law school at the time he began the study of law. Students who have been excluded from or who are on probation at another law school are ineligible.

Dates of Admission. Transfer students who have completed two or more terms of work in another law school may be admitted in the summer session or in either semester of the long session. An applicant who has completed only one term elsewhere should submit a list of law courses taken and inquire concerning possible dates of admission.

Application. Application for admission with advanced standing must be made on forms supplied by the School of Law. It must be supported by transcripts from all colleges and law schools previously attended. Good standing in the law school last attended must be established by a letter from the dean of that school.

Advanced Credit. Advanced credit for work completed in another law school will be determined by the Admissions Committee. Advanced credit will not be granted for a course completed in another law school with a grade below "C" or its equivalent.

Minimum Residence Requirement. A student admitted with advanced standing may not qualify for a degree from the School of Law until he completes satisfactorily at least 30 semester hours.

AUDITORS

Members of the State Bar of Texas or graduates of approved law schools may be enrolled as auditors in courses. Auditors are not admitted to seminars. Auditors take no examinations and receive no credit for work taken. Full-time students in the University may audit with the approval of the instructor, subject to conditions he may impose.

REGISTRATION

Registration Periods. Students who fail to register during the announced registration period must secure permission of the Dean to register late. A late registration fee of $15 will be charged, without exception, of all students who register late.

Minimum and Maximum Hours.

	Long Term	Summer
Minimum*	10	5
Maximum	15	8

Adding, Dropping, and Withdrawing. A student must give written notification to the Office of the Dean whenever he adds, drops, or withdraws from a course.

In those cases in which the student adds or drops a course, notification shall be on a form provided by the University Cashier's Office. A fee of $2 is charged for each course the student adds or drops. Periods during which a student may add or drop courses are set out in the calendar on page 8.

Notification of withdrawal from a course must be given on a form supplied by the Dean's Office. A student may, with the consent of the Dean and his instructor, withdraw without penalty from a course at any time prior to noon on the last day of classes in a semester or summer session. A notation of withdrawal (W) will be entered for the course. A student shall not be entitled to a refund of tuition if he withdraws from a course.

CLASSROOM WORK AND ATTENDANCE

Classroom Work. The instructor may exclude a student from a course for poor classroom work or for improper conduct in the classroom. In such case, the student will receive a failing grade (WF) in the course.

Attendance. Regularity in attendance at classes and diligence in the discharge of all duties are required. Attendance records may be kept by instructors; their decisions control the matter of penalties for unsatisfactory attendance records.

Absences from Examinations. A student unable to take an examination at the time scheduled, because of illness or other unavoidable cause, must notify the instructor, who will make arrangements with the student, subject to the Dean's approval, for taking the examination at a later time.

GRADES AND CREDITS

The minimum passing grade is 60. The final grade in a course is based upon written examination and other written work. A student who fails to pass a required subject may repeat the course but is not required to do so.

Method of Computing Averages. The grade in each course will be weighed in proportion to the semester-hours credit assigned to the course. In computing the average there will be included the marks from all courses in which the student has taken the final examination or received a final grade, regardless of whether credit in a particular course is required to meet the minimum requirements for graduation. When a course is repeated, both grades will be entered in computing the over-all average. When the student receives a grade of "WF," it will be entered as a grade of 40 in computing the average.

*RESIDENCE

A candidate for graduation must have been in residence for not less than six semesters. To gain residence, the candidate must have been registered for not less than ten semester-hours in a semester or five semester-hours in a summer session, and must have passed not less than nine semester-hours in the semester or five semester-hours in the summer session.

If a student is registered for but fails to pass the minimum number of hours required for residence, he will be granted fractional residence credit in proportion to the amount of work passed. Residence cannot be earned by repeating a course if residence was earned when the course was first taken.

* Students who have been enrolled in the former Evening Division may count one evening semester of residence as three-fourths of one semester. See also page 38 of this bulletin.

WITHDRAWAL AND READMISSION

Withdrawal. A student may voluntarily withdraw from the School of Law before the date of his first examination. In this event, no credit will be given for work in any class, and a notation of withdrawal (W) will be entered on the student's record.

Readmission of Former Students. Students who have withdrawn from the School of Law while in good standing will be readmitted subject to the following limitations.

Students who withdrew before completing their first semester of law study may apply for readmission in the fall semester only. Students who completed one semester may apply for readmission at the beginning of the spring semester only. Students who completed two or more semesters may apply for readmission at the beginning of either semester or a summer session.

Students who apply for readmission within the following periods will be readmitted without re-examination of their entrance credentials: Those who withdrew before earning twelve semester-hours credit, within twelve calendar months from the date of withdrawal; those who withdrew after earning twelve or more semester-hours credit, within twenty-four calendar months from the date of withdrawal. In computing these periods there will not be included any period or periods in which the student was on active duty with any of the armed services of the United States, or any period in which the student was licensed and engaged in the practice of law in this or another state. Students who apply for readmission after the expiration of the periods stated will be required to comply with the requirements for admission and graduation in effect at the date of readmission.

ACADEMIC FAILURE AND PROBATION

In this section, "semester" does not include the summer session; "upperclassman" means one who has completed two semesters or two semesters and a summer session with an overall grade average of 70 or more. For the method of computing grade averages, see page 35.

First-Year Students:

1. Any first-year student whose over-all grade average at the end of the first semester is less than 60 shall be excluded.
2. Any first-year student whose over-all grade average at the end of the first two semesters is less than 68 shall be excluded.
3. Any first-year student whose over-all grade average at the end of the first two semesters is between 68 and 70 shall be on probation. Any such probationary student must in his third semester either raise his over-all grade average to 70 or more or obtain a semester grade average of at least 72. Otherwise, he shall be excluded. A student who raises his over-all grade average to 70 or more shall be removed from probationary status. A student who fails to raise his over-all average to at least 70, but who obtains an average of 72 or more in his third semester, shall become an upperclassman on probation.

Transfer Students:

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL OF AMERICAN AND FOREIGN LAW

---

The Graduate School of American and Foreign Law, in offering programs of advanced study beyond the first degree in law, is designed to broaden the student's understanding of the Anglo-American legal system and its place in the world and to offer opportunity for study to those interested in international and foreign legal problems. To achieve its objectives, the School offers opportunities for study and research in the following areas:

1. Advanced study in Anglo-American law.
2. An intensive course of study in international and foreign legal problems for United States lawyers.
3. One-year courses of specialized legal training in international law, comparative law, and basic principles of Anglo-American law for lawyers from foreign countries.

OBJECTIVES OF GRADUATE LEGAL STUDIES

The programs of the Graduate School of American and Foreign Law offer to lawyers an opportunity for more productive careers in the private practice of law, in teaching, and in public service. The programs are designed to meet varying needs of the legal community such as (1) to afford intensive training on the graduate level in the fields of law which have become highly specialized in modern practice; (2) to increase the student's understanding of the philosophy and history of law and of the administration of justice; (3) to broaden his background through a study of comparative and international law; (4) to encourage research and creative writing in the law and related fields; and (5) to offer specialized instruction to practicing lawyers as a part of the plan for continuing education of the Bar.

Graduate study is open to lawyers who are graduates of approved law schools. Classes are scheduled not only during the day, but also during the evening for it is an objective of the Graduate School to foster graduate study for the practicing lawyer.

To meet its objectives the Graduate School of American and Foreign Law offers the following types of advanced legal programs: programs leading to the degrees of Master of Laws, Master of Comparative Law, and Doctor of the Science of Law.

Master of Laws (LL.M.): This program offers lawyers previously trained in Anglo-American law an opportunity to broaden their background in law in certain specialized areas of the law by enrolling in advanced courses and seminars and engaging in specialized research.

Master of Comparative Law (M.C.L.): This program is designed to offer to foreign lawyers, trained in the civil law system, an opportunity to acquire a knowledge of the legal system and political and legal institutions of the United States as well as of international legal problems, and to offer to lawyers, previously trained in the Anglo-American law, studies in the civil law system with emphasis upon that of Latin America supplemented by course offerings in international law and Latin American public law. For the latter type of student an additional period of graduate study in Latin America is available upon successful completion of the one-year program leading to the Master of Comparative Law and upon demonstration of an exceptional capacity for advanced study in the civil law. Eligibility for participation in the programs in Latin America requires proficiency in the Spanish language.

Doctor of the Science of Law (S.J.D.): The doctoral program provides outstanding students, primarily those in the academic field or interested in entering the academic field, an opportunity for advanced study and extended research in specialized areas of the law.

General Graduate Studies. The School of Law inaugurated the program of general graduate legal studies in 1950. This program is designed to meet the need for continuing development in the law caused by the changes and stresses of the modern era. Initially, the offerings were limited, with specialized curricula in areas of interest to southwestern lawyers, such as oil and gas, taxation, and corporate problems. Additions to the program were gradually made. In 1963, a program leading to the doctoral degree in law (S.J.D.) was added to the master of laws (LL.M.) program.

The Law Institute of the Americas. Established as a graduate division of the School of Law in 1952, the Law Institute of the Americas was a pragmatic experiment in international legal education. It was designed to improve understanding among the peoples of the Americas through study of the law, institutions, and governments of the American nations and to train lawyers to handle Western Hemisphere legal problems. The organizers recognized that lawyers generally are among the leading arbiters of policies, both national and international, and believed that inter-cultural exchange would increase the sense of total hemispheric responsibility among future decision-makers. The program of the Law Institute of the Americas was designed to teach civil-law lawyers of Latin America the fundamental approaches, thought patterns, theories, and terminology of Anglo-American common law. At the same time, the Law Institute undertook to teach common-law lawyers of Canada and the United States the fundamental approaches, thought patterns, theories, and terminology of Latin American civil law. Both groups were combined in comparative courses of constitutional and commercial law and in courses dealing with the international law of the Americas, known as inter-American regional law.

The Academy of American Law. The success of the Law Institute of the Americas led to the establishment of the Academy of American Law to provide a comprehensive program of study in the theory and practice of American political and legal institutions and the American legal system to lawyers from outside the Western Hemisphere who have not received training in Anglo-American law. The students are introduced to the basic processes and instructions of American law. Stress also has been placed on the evolution of constitutional principles essential to the development of human freedom and upon international law and the establishment of an orderly framework for international relations.

Lawyer-students in this program have come from the Far and Middle East and from Europe. Like the Latin Americans, they have benefitted from increased knowledge and from living in the United States and learning of its multifaceted society. Students from Canada, the United States, and Latin America have learned to appreciate the scholarship and ability of lawyers from outside the Hemisphere. A beneficial side-effect has been the introduction of non-American students, most for the first time, to Latin Americans and to Latin American legal institutions.

The Institute of Aerospace Law was founded in March 1967. It is designed to offer a threefold training in the developing fields of air law, transport law, and the law governing outer space activities, and to meet the need of government, industry, and international organizations for lawyers so trained. Participants engage in a program which includes courses and lectures, special research assignments, and a working relationship with the Journal of Air Law and Commerce, a legal quarterly of world-wide circulation published at the School of Law.

DEGREES

Master of Laws (LL.M.). To receive the degree of Master of Laws the student must meet the following requirements:

SPECIALIZED AREAS OF CONCENTRATION

The Graduate School of American and Foreign Law, in order to meet the needs of the legal profession, particularly in the geographical area of Southern Methodist University, has sought to create courses and seminars in various areas of concentration. Advanced graduate study in these specialized fields should impart additional skill and knowledge to today's lawyer to augment his professional competence and aid the advancement of his career. Thus, the student, upon beginning graduate study, normally will select his program from the following areas and courses. Any dissertation which he prepares should be directed toward his area of specialization. Each graduate student will select his program after careful consultation with the Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Legal Studies so that his program can be arranged to meet his individual needs.

It should be noted that some of the courses and seminars set out below are not offered each year. A special schedule of courses is published before the beginning of each semester. The student should consult these schedules for actual offerings of each semester.
